

First Nation's Business Program

At McCullough Robertson, we are known for our down to earth culture

McCullough Robertson is an independent Australian law firm with more than 350 staff spread across five offices. Operating for over 96 years, we offer a range of legal services to clients comprising of major Australian and foreign owned corporations, financial institutions, governments and high net worth individuals.

We offer 'Real responsibilities. Real relationships. Sooner.' and are looking for students who value a growth pathway through personal and professional development opportunities.

Our Business Program – What's in it for you?

The Business Program – depending on your area of study, you will be offered the opportunity to focus most of your experience within the business discipline of your choice for a period of four weeks working full time. You will also have the opportunity to rotate across other business support groups to strengthen your practical understanding and broaden your experience of business-related matters and theories you learn at university.

Learning and Development – our First Nation's Business Program offers you support through a collaborative learning and development framework, complemented by hands on work experience. Our blended learning approach gives you access to our Success Academy, as well as the opportunity to learn from dedicated subject matter experts.

Diversity and Inclusion – through our dedicated Diversity and Inclusion Committee, we provide an inclusive working environment allowing our people to bring their whole selves to work, embedding our five diversity pillars; Gender, Family and Flexibility, Cultural Diversity, LGBTIQ+ and Disability and Access in everything we do.

Community – represent our firm in one of our many social and wellbeing initiatives including group networking events, fun runs and team sports. Through our Community Partnership Program (CPP) we offer up our talent, our time and our resources within the community creating lasting change.

Future career opportunities – future proof your career by gaining hands on experience and network with like minded professionals. Students completing our Business Program may also be considered for casual work opportunities whilst undertaking their studies.
